Product Description

Conference Room Environmental Protection WPC Felt Sound-Absorbing Board

The felt base of acoustic panels is an excellent sound absorbing material that effectively captures and dampens sound energy. This helps reduce echoes and noise levels, creating a more pleasant and comfortable environment for various activities such as meetings, music recording or relaxation. By reducing sound reflections, these acoustic panels help improve room acoustics. They help achieve a balanced sound distribution, making it easier to hear and understand speech, music or other audio in a space without interference. The grille design of the panels adds a stylish and sophisticated feel to the room. They can be mounted on walls, ceilings or individual partitions, allowing flexible configuration of the acoustic treatment according to the specific requirements of the space. Acoustic panels are designed for easy installation. They can be securely mounted using adhesive, hooks or clips, simplifying the installation process and minimizing disruption to the space.
