Product Description

Description of PVC:

PVC is one of the largest plastic products in the world. It is cheap and widely used. PVC is white or light yellow powder. Different additives can be added according to different purposes, and PVC plastics can present different physical and mechanical properties. Adding an appropriate amount of plasticizer to the polyvinyl chloride can make a variety of hard, soft and transparent products.

The density of pure polyvinyl chloride is 1.4g/cm³, and the density of polyvinyl chloride plastic parts added with plasticizers and fillers is generally 1.15-2.00g/cm³.

Rigid polyvinyl chloride has good tensile, flexural, compression and impact resistance, and can be used as a structural material alone.

The flexibility, elongation at break, and cold resistance of soft PVC will increase, but the brittleness, hardness, and tensile strength will decrease.
